Recommendations

"As the video director and Studio Production Manager for Time Inc.'s Lifestyle Video Studio, I've worked very closely with Jeremy for over two years. Jeremy is an incredibly talented editor, manager and producer.

While Jeremy is very comfortable following direction, he excels at creative problem solving -- in the edit room and out.

Simply put, Jeremy is a talented, dedicated and dependable person who companies should be fighting over."

Michael Grady, Studio Production Manager for Time Inc's Lifestyle Video Studio

"Jeremy's quick mind, intelligence, creativity, very positive and professional attitude and technical ability would quickly make him a vital member of your team. You'll wonder how you managed without him."

Celia Carey, Documentary Director-Producer

3 people have recommended Jeremy

"My company lost our video editor after we were already committed to a corporate video project. We were left with a very short time frame and a very hard deadline. I contacted Jeremy and he did an excellent job, was pleasant to work with, was extremely responsive, did everything he said he would do, was an ideal communicator, and the client was superbly satisfied. I highly recommend Jeremy and we hope to work with him on future projects as well."

— Derek Brown, was Jeremy's client

"I've hired Jeremy as a freelance editor many times over the last few years. He is creative, consistent and able to arrive at a quality final product without much direction. My company is small and I don't have time to micromanage. If you're in a similar situation and need someone you can "turn loose" on a project, Jeremy is your guy."

— Chris Tomberlin, was Jeremy's client

"Jeremy is a talented and knowledgeable editor, skilled with Final Cut Pro, graphics, and DVD authoring. He is cheerful, friendly, and a great asset to any project."

— Erin Peters, studied with Jeremy at North Carolina School of the Arts
